Deputies, rangers, teachers aid Big Sur rescue

PLEASANTON - Concern over a possibly severely-ailing Pleasanton boy last week resulted in a major cooperative effort in Big Sur country by sheriffs deputies, forest rangers and Pleasanton teachers.

Ten-year old Mark Howell, participant in the school district's Summer Outdoor Education backpacking program, had complained of a sideache and nausea after the group had packed some six miles into the wilderness of Big Sur (Monterey County) last Wednesday.

An adult aide in the program, Don

Frazer, checked the youngster and thought it might be appendicitis. While climbing a steep, switchback trail in the wilderness, Mark had apparently taken a spill and hurt the area below his right rib cage.

As Mark continued to ail, Bill Berry, a teacher-leader with the group, decided to walk out to a Los Padres National Park Ranger Station to get help.

Berry made it to the station shortly before 11 a.m. only to learn that the rescue unit, including a back country ranger, were not available. The Monterey County Sheriffs office was then called and arrangements made for an Army helicopter to fly in from Fort Ord.

Two of the rangers then drove Berry back through the rugged country, along a ridge line to Big Sur River to where he could easily hike the remaining distance (about two miles) back into camp at Terrace Creek. Arriving back about 1 p.m., Berry and a ranger, along with aide Kevin Inglesby, started carrying Mark up hill piggyback fashion to a point where they met a four-man Sheriffs rescue squad.

With the aid of a stretcher brought by the Sheriffs unit, Mark was carried to a ranger truck and thence to the waiting helicopter. The copter took him to Carmel Community Hospital where he was given a thorough check in the hospital's emergency ward.

Though still a little sore and nauseous, Mark was given a clean bill of health and permitted to leave.

Mark's parents, Steven and Pamela Howell of Sandpiper Way, said Monday that Mark was somewhat chagrined at having such a minor ailment after all the effort expended to bring him out from the wilderness camp.

The Howells expressed their gratitude for the concern shown by the Pleasanton teachers, the rangers, sheriffs and medical personnel at Carmel Community.

To prove his mettle and great interest in the Summer Outdoor Education program, Mark went with the backpacking group to Desolation Valley this week.

The program, which attracted a whopping 500-plus elementary school-age youngsters, concludes this week.

Pleasanton choice official today

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND - The Alameda County Board of Supervisors is expected to sign an option agreement for 53 acres on Mission Hill in Pleasanton for the proposed East County Government Center at today's meeting.

That site, located off Sunol Boulevard, was chosen over two other alternative locations. According to the preliminary timetable, the government center, which would include administrative and court facilities, would be constructed in the 1976-77 fiscal year.

More than $500,000 has been appropriated in this year's budget for architectural fees for the facility.

Representatives of the Commission on the Status of Women are expected to address the supervisors regarding the impending closure of the Western Electric plant in Dublin.

The shut-down of that facility will affect a sizeable number of south county women.

The board will also award a contract for construction of the Detjens-Kalthoff Untreated Water Turnout Facility (for agricultural use). The facility is expected to cost around $26,000 and will be located near the Del Valle Treatment Plant.

Final action will be taken on the application of Kaiser Aetna to rezone three acres at the corner of Dublin Boulevard and Village Parkway from light industrial to general commercial.

The county planning commission recommended approval despite an unfavorable report from the planning staff. At a previous supervisors' hearing July 10, however, only two supervisors (Don Murphy and Charles Santana) voted for approval. Chairman Fred Cooper opposed the application, Supervisor Joseph Bort abstained and Supervisor Tom Bates was absent.

The supervisors will also hear a delegation of Citizens Concerned about the Hayward Jail. They will present a petition containing approximately 2,400 signatures of citizens who are opposed to the county Prp-Trial Detention Facility planned for Winton Avenue between Amador and Santa Clara streets.

In the afternoon session, which begins at 2:30 p.m., the board will begin hearings on proposed reductions in the revenue sharing and social services programs because of reduced state funding during the current fiscal year.

The board meeting begins at 9 a.m. today in the Alameda County Administration Building, 1221 Oak St.

Burr development decision put off

Alameda County Bureau

Due to an oversight by the Alameda County Planning Department, the scheduled action on the controversial Burr development in Sunol was postponed for two weeks yesterday.

The Alameda County Planning Commission met yesterday in Hayward, fully intending to rule on Edwin Burr's appeal of Planning Director Bill Fraley's denial of his subdivision map. It appeared that the planners would approve the eight home development yesterday, but now no action may be taken until August 4.

The reason for the delay is a new state law that requires that an advertised public hearing take place on all appeals like Burr's. Although a public hearing did take place, it was not advertised 10 days in advance in the newspapers and thus another hearing is required.

Burr hopes to put eight homes on 100 acre or larger lots on Sunol ridge parallel to Kilkare Canyon Road and devote over 600 acres to open space.

Opposition to the plan centers around the steep and windy access road, which has been termed more dangerous than Santos Ranch Road by the county surveyor.

The final decision on the development could well be made in Hayward on August 4.

The planners also took testimony on a proposed medical building on Village Parkway just north of the Valley Community Swim Center.

Dr. Tom Clemetson and Dr. Ed Schlies hope to build an eight-to-ten doctor professional building on 35,000 square feet of property now zoned residential.

Originally, McKeon Corporation hoped to build 356 houses on the 25.83 acre parcel but now has scaled down its plans to include 256 dwelling units, with space for the proposed professional building and a new church.

That church should soon begin going up directly north of the Swim Center and the doctor's building would go just north of that.

Christening

Nearly 300 citizens turned out Sunday for the dedication of Century House and Bicentennial Park. Basking in the wind-swept sun, the crowd was treated to tours of the house, the debut performance of the Pleasanton Bicentennial Band, a flag-raising ceremony and strawberries and ice cream, courtesy of the Junior Women's Club.

Tire iron against quartet

Murder try charged in fight

LIVERMORE - A 20-year-old local man was arraigned in municipal court yesterday on three counts of assault with a deadly weapon and one charge of attempted murder stemming from a late Friday night fight in downtown Livermore.

Police say Michael L. Howard, 20, 291 McLeod St., Livermore, attacked four young men with a tire iron in front of Malley's Cafe, 2118 First St., following an 11 p.m. fight with one of the alleged victims.

Two of the men, John M. Herrington, 18, 875 Seminole Dr., and John L. Harper, 17, a Chabot College student, claim Howard and his brother, Richard, 29, pulled to the curb in front of Malley's and Michael Howard, they continued, "started dancing around like he wanted to fight," and hit Harper in the nose. When Harper looked up, he told police, he told Michael Howard and Herrington fighting. Harper told police he pulled Howard off just as Dan L. McDonald, 19, 657 Lorren Way, Livermore, and Reginald Wood, Jr., 18, a sailor from the Alameda Naval Station, came across to help.

Howard went back to his car, McDonald said, and came back with a metal bar, "hitting people at random."

Wood concurred. According to Howard, he was talking to two youths when one hit him behind the ear with a rock. One of them wanted to fight, he continued, and as the two wrestled on the ground, two or three other young men began kicking him in the back.

The tire iron was not his, he said, and he didn't hit anyone with it.

Witnesses' accounts vary. One said he saw eight white youths chasing Howard, who's black, taunting him. Another says Howard was pulled from Herrington, but the other men kept pushing him back.

One witness told police he saw Howard and Herrington shake hands and Howard return to his car. When the group started walking toward him, the witness continued, Howard came out with the tire iron. The group, he added, started running.

Another witness told police there were three men on Howard at once, and that after he was pulled off, Howard returned with "some kind of bar."

Richard Howard, witnesses agree, did not get involved in the fracas.

Herrington and Harper were taken to Valley Memorial.

School art show starts today

PLEASANTON - The work and accomplishments of the Pleasanton Elementary School District's summer session will be on display this morning at Alisal and at Harvest Park and Pleasanton Elementary on Thursday.

Classes will be open for visitations between 8:45 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. at Alisal

School and between 8:20 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. at Pleasanton Elementary and 9:30 and 11:30 at Harvest Park Thursday.

Everything from arts and crafts to rocketry will be featured.

Alisal's program focuses on science projects from 8:45 to 9:55, language arts from 10:10 to 11:20 and arts and crafts from 11:35 to 12:45.

Gymnastics, band and drama performances will feature the informal programs at Harvest Park and Pleasanton Elementary. There'll also be arts and crafts and wood-working project displays and cooking classes at Pleasanton will have baked goods for sale.

Golf exhibitions and rocketry will also be highlighted at Pleasanton.

This summer's elementary program has been under the direction of David Cook.

Crash kills

Albert T. Dexter, 60, of Byron, was killed after his truck drifted off the shoulder of Mountain House Road in the Altamont Pass shortly after 2 p.m. He apparently lost control when the truck went into loose gravel, and was thrown from the cab. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Valley Memorial Hospital.

Strike up the band

Jerry Lapinsky directed the Pleasanton Bicentennial Band in its debut performance Sunday at the dedication ceremonies at Century House and Bicentennial Park. (For more photos and story by Pat Widder, see page 4).

New building's future discussed

PLEASANTON - The buildings and grounds committee of the County Fair Association Board of Directors will convene at 7:30 this evening to discuss future uses for the Young California Building.

Three-quarters-of-a-million dollar structure was opened this spring and was used for 4-H and FFA exhibits during the recent Alameda County Fair.

Chairman DeWitt Wilson and fellow panelists will consider a tennis concession for the building.

Originally, three tennis courts were proposed for the building but the Fair Association management has been unable to locate a concessionaire to date.

4th hearing set on redevelopment

Claiming that "People really don't believe we are going to go through with it and so don't get into it," Pleasanton Redevelopment Agency Deputy Director John Bowling announced a fourth public meeting on this city's tentative redevelopment plans.

Citizens are urged to express their feelings at the Thursday, July 24 meeting, 8 p.m. at the Pleasanton Justice Court, 30 West Angela St.

The redevelopment plan's main theme is to make the downtown business area a competitive market with other shopping areas, including the proposed regional shopping center at Stoneridge Drive and Foothill Road.

Included are plans to extend Peters Ave. as a through parallel the length of Main Street.

The redevelopment plans' proposals will eventually displace 16 single family homes, 32 mobile homes, three businesses and one charitable organization.

Bowling emphasizes that most of the redevelopment construction centers on vacant land or renovation of old buildings so a minimum of displacement will occur.

A public hearing on the tentative plans will be held on Monday, August 11 at 8 p.m. at the Pleasanton Justice Court, 30 West Angela St.

$275 in tools taken from truck

LIVERMORE - An estimated $275 in tools was reported taken from a pick-up truck driven by Richard Earle and parked outside his De Soto Way residence, according to the Livermore police department.

The left wing window of the truck, which is owned by Linford Mechanical Construction of Oakland, was pried open, police reported.

Sunol men want to split 84 acre lot

Alameda County Bureau HAYWARD - E.C. Redepinning and O.G. Schneider will seek permission to divide 84 acres into two building sites before the Alameda County Zoning Administrator Wednesday afternoon.

They are seeking to divide the property, located at the end of Kilkare Road in the Sunol area, into two parcels of 13.18 acres and 70.97 acres each in an area where 100 acres is required for a minimum building site.

Neither of the properties would have frontage on an approved street as is required.

General Electric has applied for a conditional use permit to allow construction of two buildings to enclose existing work areas in a heavy industrial zone at the Vallecitos Nuclear Center on Vallecitos Road.

Robert and Suzanne Scheppler are seeking a variance to construct an addition which would reduce the required rear and side yard setbacks at 8583 Briarwood Lane in Dublin.

The zoning administrator meets at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Alameda County Public Works Building, 399 Elmhurst St.

Blind mathematician honored

Gil Johnson of the State Department of Rehabilitation (left) presents Dr. Lawrence Truong, a blind mathematician at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory with a plaque honoring him as Rehabilitant of the Year for the Oakland District. Truong, who went blind at age 7, came to the United States from Vietnam at 18 with no formal education and now has earned his doctorate in mathematics. John Parks of the Oakland District also presented Dr. James Carothers of LLL with a certificate honoring the Lab as an "Outstanding Employer" in the rehabilitation field.

Valley Community Services District board hears report on sewage

A lengthy report concerning the problem of effluent disposal by Valley Community Services District Public Works Director Doug Nelson was the highlight of last week's VCSD board meeting in Dublin.

Nelson discussed the recent efforts to mitigate the effluent disposal problem at the VCSD sewage treatment plant in Pleasanton.

The most recent suggestion involves diluting the effluent with fresh water to cut the salt content of the overall discharge. However, one of the limits concerns the total amount of salt (in pounds) that VCSD can discharge.

Along that line, VCSD directors are hoping to have a prospectus from A. D. Little Company, which has done environmental impact reports for the district in the past, on how to investigate different mitigation methods.

Eventually, VCSD may have to have a consultant draw up the mitigation plan that is required by the state and the Environmental Protection Agency.

The prospectus from Little is planned for the next meeting on August 5.

The directors also decided to hold off on hiring a fulltime maintenance man for the Shannon Community Center, as Recreation Director Pete Vallarino suggested.

It would cost approximately $12,000 a year to hire a janitor there, as opposed to a lesser cost with a contractor, as is now done.

VCSD accepted the job of channeling funds for a valley committee hoping to preserve the Jeremiah Fallon House. State monies have been procured, but the state wants to have the money handled by a governmental district rather than a committee.

The Fallon House is on the site of the proposed Stoneridge Shopping Center, and must be moved before construction can begin. The plan is to move it near the old church and graveyard in Dublin.

LUSD to pick up $67,700 grant

LIVERMORE - The Livermore Unified School District will be getting a record $67,700 in vocational education money in the coming year.

That's up $20,000 from the past school year, according to Superintendent of Schools Leo Croce. Unfortunately, the funding of the district's work-study program is down $1,000, which means the district will only be able to hire nine or 10 students this year for part-time work. The decrease in that program was caused by the greater number of districts sharing this year's work-study funding allotment, Croce explained.

Fred Sherwyn, district coordinator of vocational education, said the funding will be in three categories.

There will be $2,600 for work-study grants to employ students who need a small income in order to continue their vocational studies.

The biggest grant is $55,887 to allow the district to expand and improve its classes in agriculture, health, home economics, office, technical trades and industry, and work experience education.

A third grant for $9,260 will enable the district to develop a cooperative program for graphic arts and office education. According to Sherwyn, local high schools will cooperate with area businesses to provide credit for students working part-time in occupations related to their vocational training.

Last year, more than 3,300 high school students and adults were enrolled in 22 vocational programs offered by the Livermore Unified School District.

Sherwyn points out, "The federal allocation represents only a small portion of our vocational education expenditures, since the district spends almost $9 of local tax money for every federal dollar it receives."

Death report 'slightly exaggerated

The reports of his death were greatly exaggerated, Daryle Gleason told The Times Monday, borrowing a line from Mark Twain.

A Valley obituary in the Sunday Times erroneously was headed "Daryle Gleason" when the notice was for Mr. Gleason's mother, Eleanor V. Patrick.

The Times regrets any inconvenience caused Mr. Gleason, an employee of Livermore's Callaghan's Mortuary.

Groups meet solve mutual weight problems

By REINA WHITNEY

Unless you, yourself, have tried to overcome a smoking, drinking, barbiturate, or any other serious addictive illness, it would be hard to sympathize with the overweight.

The personal feeling of worthlessness, guilt, and self-condemnation is unequalled. The summer, with its shedding of excess clothes, brings with it its own special anguish.

Yet, there are at least three organizations here in the valley which say your suffering is unnecessary and help is available.

"We Care" says Overeaters Anonymous; "Take off pounds sensibly" is the meaning behind the letters for TOPS; and "Weight Watchers" encourages its members to do just that.

All three organizations have at least one thing in common — group therapy. There is a strength and hope when people meet together to share a common experience and join to help solve their mutual problem; which in this case is overeating.

The people that come to Overeaters Anonymous (OA) meetings usually have tried every diet method or club plan available. They have generally invested great sums of money in professional help and need the support of the group to come to a better self-understanding of why they are compulsive overeaters.

They meet once a week in a friendly fellowship, sharing experiences and giving strength, encouragement, and hope to each other. Their meetings are patterned after the successful Alcoholics Anonymous group, and believe that compulsive overeating is a progressive illness. And that, like alcoholism and some other illnesses, can be arrested.

They ask you to remember that there is no shame in admitting you have a problem; the most important thing is to do something about it.

OA does not require fees or dues for membership. There are no weigh-ins or rewards.

Meetings are held regularly every week in Dublin and Pleasanton. If you are interested in learning the times and places of these OA meetings, call Barbara at 828-2920.

TOPS is a national organization and is more social in nature. There are weekly weigh-ins, rewards or charms and trophies for the members as they reach different plateaus in striving to get to their ultimate goal.

Some of the TOPS clubs engage in evenings of bowling, volleyball or other physical activity besides the weekly meeting. They also periodically hold low-calorie luncheons and dinners for their members. Some of the branches even have a clothing shower for a member who has reached her goal and gift her with items all in her new size.

TOPS does require an initial membership fee and monthly dues. Their Dublin group has gotten so large that seven of its members have started a Pleasanton chapter and would like more members. If this type of organization is more to your liking, you are asked to call Sandi, at 828-8420 for more information.

Weight Watchers, since it is a copyrighted international organization, is perhaps the most organized of the three. It offers you a specific diet plan and a book of rules and regulations that must be followed for the program to be successful. And it is successful, as many of its members will attest.

There is a weekly weigh-in which is methodically tabulated by the professionally trained leader, who also leads the discussion. There is an initial membership fee plus weekly dues. Meetings are held regularly in Pleasanton and Livermore, and you are asked to call their central offices if you would like more information about Weight Watchers, at 581-1047.

All three organizations strongly advise you to consult your physician while participating on any diet program and encourage periodic medical check-ups, and never to indulge in self-medication.

All three groups invite men as well as women to join and have day and evening meetings at convenience locations. OA and TOPS invite visitors to their meetings, while Weight Watchers does not permit visitors or guests at their meetings.

Choose the one that suits your personality best and join now while the urge is there. This is the prayer with which OA ends its meetings: "God grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, courage to change the things I can, and wisdom to know the difference." And you must ask yourself, "Isn't being overweight one problem I can change?"

Tillie takes inventory of foods which are a "no-no" to one who is keeping herself in good shape — more ways than one.

Almanac available

Canning is once again becoming very popular with the homemaker according to Joanne Abey, member of the Del Valle Home Economists Club.

"It use to be it was cheaper to buy your canned goods from the grocery store," said Joanne, "but with prices rapidly increasing continuously, this no longer is true, therefore more and more women are learning to do their own canning or freezing."

For the last two years," Joanne continued, "it was almost impossible to find jars and lids for canning. Women, in order to save or stretch their grocery dollar, are buying in larger quantities more than ever before and they have to know what to do with the foods they are buying."

For these reasons, the Home Economists Club which consist of all professional women who have a degree in home economics to put out their "Suburban Housewives Almanac 1975." The book, although it contains recipes, is more than just "another" recipe book to store on the shelf. It also list information where to obtain additional information on preservation of foods plus other helpful, up-to-date hints for the homemaker in preparing her foods.

The "Suburban Housewives Almanac" is available from Book Heaven, 166 South J Street, Livermore or by calling Joanne at 447-7045, Janet Brownlee at 846-3074 or Trude Engelund, 447-6395.

The club has been in existence for approximately 10 years and has put out recipe books each year with each one having a different theme. Some of these are still available through the club which has 40 active members.

The club meets regularly to learn the latest in home economics, have fun, listen to interesting, educational speakers and take field trips. Anyone interested in obtaining further information on the club or would like to become a member, may call Lillian Kalibjian at 447-4249.

Joanne Abey glances through the second printing of "Suburban Housewives Almanac 1975."

Mardi Gras projects desired

The Pleasanton Junior Women's Club has a research committee, chaired by Mrs. Judy Everett, working throughout the summer looking for new projects for the club to work on in the fall. The priority on their list is finding a worthwhile project or projects for next year's Mardi Gras Ball. The Juniors would welcome suggestions from members of the Pleasanton community on any ideas or projects they might want the Club to work on in its behalf. Any thoughts or suggestions concerning Mardi Gras should be directed to Judy at 462-5723.

Flag raising ceremony marked Century House dedication Sunday

PLEASANTON - Take the stirring sounds of a band, add waving flags, historic costumes and Bicentennial bonnets and sprinkle with ice cream, children and sunshine.

Sunday, that recipe produced a perfect setting for the dedication of Century House and Bicentennial Park on Santa Rita Road.

Nearly 300 citizens turned out for the ceremonies, which included the debut performance of the Pleasanton Bicentennial Band, a flag raising and tours of Century House, and was topped off with the Juniors' annual Strawberry Festival.

People of all sizes and ages wandered through the house and its spacious verandah, which will be used for receptions and meetings, and toured the surrounding brick patios and colorful flower-bedecked walkway, while eating generous portions of fresh strawberries and ice cream.

The graceful benches donated by the Junior Women's Club for Main Street were moved to Bicentennial Park for the occasion.

Ken Mercer, chairman of the Pleasanton Bicentennial Committee, presented a brief history of Century House prior to the dedication.

It was built in 1878 as a hunting lodge and had seven owners (one of them was the parents of Mrs. James Blacow Trimmingham) before being turned over to the city in 1969 by Dee Wilson.

The city has spent more than $100,000 restoring the house and landscaping the front portion of the three-acre park surrounding it.

In addition, time and materials were donated by John Pereira, Abbott Plumbing, Greg Fahey, Angelo Cavestri, Lone Star Cement, John and Gene Edmonds, Pleasanton Cabinet Shop, the Elks Lodge, Jim Georges and the volunteers who helped lay the 16,500 bricks in the patio.

For Tuesday, July 22, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's not to your advantage to throw your weight around today. The net result could be problems you can ill afford.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If your sales pitch falls on deaf ears the first time around, look for more fertile soil. Don't belabor the point.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be even more careful in business dealings than you were yesterday. Mistakes made today won't be insignificant.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You won't be as independent today as you'd like. Others will play a major role in shaping your decisions.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You've a tendency today to start more things than you can possible finish. Chances are you'll leave many loose ends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It's a mistake today to bank too heavily on Lady Luck. You'll find her a very fickle lady.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) There could be considerable turmoil around home today. When the smoke clears, you'll realize you're the major cause of unrest.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Take care challenging positions of others today. They feel strongly about their views. They'll tell you so — emphatically!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're a trifle too careless about possessions today. Be on guard, or you'll break or lose something you prize.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you hope to serve your self-interests today, consider what's in it for the other guy. Otherwise, you'll get no co-operation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're apt to do things against your better judgment, though you know in your heart you're wrong.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Before you move into any new projects now, make sure you have a clear-cut understanding of all cost factors.

Your Birthday

Influential sources will bring you some very unusual opportunities this coming year. Be wise enough to take advantage of their potential.

Normal good play would start with South holding off until the third spade lead and then knocking out the ace of clubs. East takes the last spade, exits with a club and discards a diamond on the fourth club. Meanwhile declarer has discarded a heart on the last spade and two diamonds from dummy. This will leave a five-card ending with dummy holding king-jack-seven of hearts and king-jack of diamonds. As a matter of percentage play, South will cash two high diamonds to see if the queen will drop. It does and he has his ninth trick. So much for normal good play. Now put one of those nasty experts over in the East seat. Our nasty friend will cover his partner's 10 of spades at trick three and will not bother to cash his last spade when he gets in with the ace of clubs. He will still chuck a diamond on the fourth club, but meanwhile our unsuspecting South will hang on to all dummy's diamonds. He will take a diamond finesse against West and wind up a surprised loser when East takes his queen of diamonds and proceeds to cash that small spade that he wasn't supposed to have.

Ask the Jacobys

"What is the Herbert convention?" asks a reader from New Orleans. The Herbert convention is a method of responding to strong two-bids in which the next suit is used as the negative response rather than the traditional two notrump.

Thus, with:
♠ 3 2 ♥ 6 2 ♦ 8 7 6 5 4 ♣ 9 5 3 2
you respond two spades to your partner's strong two heart opening bid. This makes it possible for the strong hand to play in notrump whereas the negative two notrump response automatically gets notrump play in the wrong hand.

Larson comeback defeats rankled Finn

DOUG LARSON

Where do your thoughts lead when you've just won a big junior tennis tournament against a rival who's been troubling you for more than half a decade?

If you're Doug Larson, you return to the racquet, that trusty marriage of wood and cat gut that enables you to fend off the best an opponent can serve up.

"It broke on me," Larson wailed after dispatching Andy Finn, 1-6, 7-5, 7-5 yesterday, in a stunning climax to the Valley Junior Tennis Tournament at Granada High School.

"The string popped on one of my shots — and I just got the thing two weeks ago. I'm going to take it back."

So much for the thrill of victory.

The thrill seemed to belong more to the tiny smattering of spectators who lingered two hours in broiling sun to witness Larson's fine comeback.

They played a role in the outcome of the championship, though you can argue the impact a crowd of 10 wields.

Shortly after Larson popped his string in the second set of the 18-year old finals, a knot of young spectators rankled Finn by applauding one of his misses.

Andy seethed over the wimpering applause and engaged the perpetrators briefly in conversation.

When he returned to the match things fell apart. First, backhand shots fell limply into the net. One even shanked off the handle of his racquet.

Then finally, near the close of the second set, Finn double-faulted, helping Larson to a 1-1 tie in the match, and signaling the height of Andy's frustration.

"I can't play well when I'm upset," he said prior to the start of the third set.

Larson, who performed a remarkable transformation during the course of the match, took advantage of Finn's troubled mind. He began playing the net and converting simple shots that had gone unplayed earlier.

At the finish, a weary Finn double-faulted to climax a rivalry that has lasted since 1969.

"We've been playing each other six years," Larson recounted. "The first year I beat him pretty well, but in the 16's, he passed me up. Then I won last year (the EBAL championship) and he won it this year. I didn't know if I could do it today."

Through the first set it seemed hopeless for Larson. Finn, who has not kept a rigorous tennis schedule this summer, dominated thoroughly.

His serves were so fierce with the yellow tennis balls that Larson looked like a man trying to cage a super-sonic canary.

Andy wore a sun-visor emblazoned with a "Coors" logo, but he was putting Larson down like a vintage Inglenook or Christian Bros.

Larson was forced to lean away from a couple of serves to prevent a beaming. The first set went to Finn in a matter of minutes.

Shortly into the second, however, the golden groove was disrupted as Larson stopped to exchange racquets, and the court-side denizens pricked Finn's ears.

Larson's account of the turnabout was more basic. "I just started returning his serves," he explained. "The first set Andy was great. But in the second I was getting his serves, and after that everything was all right."

Finn's younger brother Dave dropped a 6-3, 7-6 decision to young Steve Williford in the 16-year old finals yesterday.

Williford, a 14-year old, jumped up a bracket in age, and still won.

Todd Larson was the boys 14 champion with a 6-0, 6-0 rout of Dave Reineking Sunday. In boys 12's, Troy Larson continued a family orgy with a 6-2, 7-6 win over Ricky Gottesman.

Lori Larson won the girls 16's, 6-1, 6-3 over Pat Schall.

In the 14's, it was Stephanie Schall over Mindy Gottesman, 7-5, 7-6.

Harder's captures JC fast pitch

Don Harder Sporting Goods of Hayward won the Livermore Jaycee Softball Tournament Sunday night with a 9-5 win over El Katrina Dairy of Turlock in the finals.

Harder finished second in the tournament last year.

For the second straight season, it furnished the Most Valuable Player, that being Mike Heineman.

The winners did most of their damage in the third inning Sunday night, as Joe August and Jeff Juintini pounded out two-run homers.

Both stroked doubles in the seventh inning to produce three more runs.

T-V rally topples NBI, 8-7

An extra-base hit barrage in the sixth inning produced three runs for Tri-Valley, and an 8-7 Livermore Women's Softball win over NBI last week.

Carol Lamoste tripled, and Peggy Dix and Linda Gruen both doubled around a single by Cathy Dilger.

Dix and Gruen each had three hits for the winners.

NBI's Judy Lee and Nancy Bealt also had three hits apiece.

Rich Buckley crushed Oak's Club, 14-1, as Liz Folley, Pat Hagberg and Nancy Battles all collected three hits. Folley opened the game with a triple.

Soxers split in tourney

Pleasanton split its first two games last weekend in the Bobby Sox Softball minor league tournament, defeating Livermore, 22-9, but dropping a 10-9 decision to Burlingame.

The loss to Burlingame came when the winners scored twice in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Janet Marsh's bases-loaded single chased home the deciding runs.

Pleasanton led, 7-2, after two innings. Lisa Thomas' triple was the key in a two-run first inning for the losers.

Jill Prudhomme homered for Pleasanton in the second as five more runs crossed.

Burlingame got back in the contest with six runs in the third inning.

Thomas' single and stolen base set up a single run for Pleasanton in the fourth inning. Lisa Johnson singled for the losers in the fifth, stole two bases, and scored on an infield out.

Pleasanton's victory eliminated Livermore from the tournament. Theresa Hansen was the winning pitcher.

Lisa Thomas had five hits in six at-bats for the winners, and Hansen added four hits.

There were no Pleasanton home runs, but Johnson, Prudhomme and Stacy Smiley all had triples.

Prudhomme drove in five runs for the winners. Johnson and Thomas each had four RBI's. Hansen had three.

Kathy Baker and Roberta Maestas each drove in two runs for Livermore.

Bicentennial organization seeks Livermore biographies

Short biographies of all Livermore residents and information on the famous and interesting, living and dead, are being sought by the Livermore Bicentennial Organization.

As part of the city's celebration of the nation's 200th birthday, a Civic Recognition Week will be held June 21-27, 1976. In preparing for the event, the LBO Research Committee, headed by Ann Lewis, is seeking information on prominent local citizens who have contributed to the improvement of American life.

The prominent persons to be honored need not be life-long residents, but only those who while living, working or having been born in Livermore had a significant and beneficial impact upon the Valley, the nation or the world. Suggestions as to candidates for recognition may be sent to Ann Lewis at 2332 Chateau Way, Livermore.

The other project seeks the participation of every resident. The LBO and the Livermore Heritage Guild are collecting autobiographical sketches of persons residing in the city during the Bicentennial year. A scrapbook of the information, including photos, will be kept in the Historical Center in the Carnegie Building.

Residents may, if they prefer, make up their own information sheets.

Completed biographies may be mailed to the Livermore Heritage Guild, P.O. Box 961, or they may be delivered to the Carnegie Building, Third Street at L, Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

James named acting head of water board

OAKLAND — Roger James has been named acting executive officer of the Regional Water Quality Control Board until Executive Officer Fred Dierker recovers from injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Dierker's accident occurred June 24 on the San Mateo Bridge. He has been at St. Rose Hospital in Hayward since the accident but is expected to be released soon for convalescence in his San Leandro home.

A water board spokesman said Dierker will probably not return to work for another two months.

New committee adopts by-laws

LIVERMORE — The newly-formed Social Concerns Committee adopted its by-laws at its second monthly meeting last week and will elect officers for one-year terms each September.

Rin Hartwig, acting as interim chairman of the committee, will continue in this position until September, at which time a chairman and vice-chairman will be elected.

The by-laws also call for the committee to meet the third Thursday of each month.

Some help for Jon

Joe Valente, sales manager for Don Plummer Chevrolet and Buick in Livermore, presents keys to 1975 Vega to Lorenzo Oreglia of Livermore Jaycees. Vegas will be raffled off at Celebrity Sports Banquet August 27. Proceeds from raffle will go to aid little Jon Conway, now at Children's Hospital at Stanford after nearly suffocating in pool accident at May Nissen Pool in June. Jon's father is employed at Plummer Chevrolet and Buick. Noting event are Dan Shropshire of Jaycees and Gib Souza.

Jaycees sponsor Dimes Wheelathon

The Pleasanton Jaycees will sponsor a March of Dimes Wheelathon Sunday, August 10 at the County Fairgrounds.

All proceeds will be donated to the March of Dimes.

Gates will open at 8:30 a.m. on Aug. 10 with the initial races at 10 a.m. in the lawn area by the barbecue pits. There will be three separate age groups both in girls and boys divisions; 3-years old and under, 4 and 5-year olds, and 6-8 year olds. All 3-year olds and under must turn in their sponsor sheets and donations to pickup a racing number by 9:30 a.m. on the 10th. The middle age group time is 10:30 and the oldest group deadline 11:30 a.m. The event is limited to a total of 1,000 participants on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The barbecue and lawn areas have been reserved for this event and everyone is urged to bring a picnic lunch. There will be concession stands selling soft drinks, hot dogs and snow cones.

Sponsors of entries are asked to donate a minimum of 50 cents per race. If the child enters two races, $1 should be collected from sponsors. Prospective race entrants are urged to try and get at least five sponsors.

According to the Jaycees, this is the initial time such an event has been attempted on the West Coast. The goal is to collect $7,000 for March of Dimes.

Entries should bring their own Big Wheel, Sports Wheel or Little Wheel. However, the Jaycees have two big wheels for those who do not have one but it will be on a first-come, first-serve basis.

First race is the Marx Straightaway, which is a straight course by age group. The second race is the Jaycee 500, which is in the shape of a horseshoe and approximately 500 feet long. This race is open to all three age groups.

All entrants should be accompanied by one "pit boss" (adult).

Further information may be gained by calling 846-9228.

Berkeley students report critical of Las Positas

LIVERMORE - Hazardous air pollution, expensive water, sewage treatment problems, overcrowded schools, the creation of a bedroom community and local job shortage are some of the major environmental impacts of the proposed New Town development, a group of University of California, Berkeley, students have concluded.

"Las Positas: An Environmental Review," is a 200-page report prepared as a class project by 10 students in Berkeley's Department of Conservation and Resource Studies in the College of Natural Resources.

The project, dated June 1975, is the culmination of a three-quarter interdisciplinary course on environmental impacts and their incorporation into the decision-making process.

The Livermore city attorney's office has a copy of the report, which it plans to use as new evidence if — as Livermore is trying to force through the threat of litigation — Alameda County begins anew the process for approving the New Town development.

"The upshot was that a large number of very adverse factors both economically and environmentally were identified and the conclusion was that no satisfactory answers to these questions were as yet attainable," commented Assistant City Attorney Gary Reiners of the Berkeley report.

"The report concluded by observing that the developer didn't seem able to address these significant questions," he added.

Gail Bateson, one of the undergraduates who worked on the report, said the topic was brought to the classes' attention by one of the teaching assistants.

"It seemed like a good controversial project to choose," she noted.

The students compiled documents, reports and information for their project from about 20 state, regional, county and local governmental agencies and focused on the probable environmental as well as socio-economic impacts.

Their summary concludes that some of the major environmental impacts of the New Town proposal are:

Air pollution. The Livermore-Amador Valley is a critical air basin and any further large-scale development, without sound mitigating measures, would exceed ambient oxidant standards and hamper air pollution control.

"If the valley should meet the projected 1990 population of 180,000, the federal oxidant standard would be surpassed from six to 30 days per year — thus producing possible health hazards among other secondary effects."

Water quality. Although water initially could be extended to New Town, it would be necessary to expand existing distribution systems and rely on more expensive imported supplies to accommodate any future growth.

Sewage treatment also could be a considerable problem since capacity will not meet 1990 demands.

"For any current consideration of water and sewage, the following issues must still be addressed: Who or what agency will provide ample water and sewage systems? What will be the strain on existing sewage treatment facilities? Who or what agency will handle the effluent disposal? And finally, who will pay the water and sewage costs?"

Solid waste. The valley already is nearing existing disposal site capacity and the development would significantly increase the levels of solid waste.

"Also, since the Las Positas development is not included in the county solid waste management plan, it will tend to exert a growth-inducing effect for new disposal sites in the area."

Economic factors. The county cannot cover education costs for New Town residents and this places the burden of schooling on Liver-more, which already is at or nearing capacity.

"With regard to housing, there is a considerable likelihood that a range of high-priced homes will be built first, thus creating a bedroom community rather than a 'new town' per se."

"This along with several other factors would cause a limiting of the housing mix and seriously affect the county policy regarding this new town development, in terms of providing for low and moderate-income dwellings."

There will not be enough local jobs to accommodate New Town residents and more than half the working force is expected to commute west of the East Bay hills.

Originally, the projection of new job opportunities was set at 9,000 to 10,000, a figure that has been more realistically adjusted to about 5,000.

However, the type of labor available for the proposed industrial park is unknown.

"Employment projections for Las Positas are at best tenuous in both quantity and character."

Said student Bateson of the development, "There are a lot of data gaps and reports that should be done." Her comment echoed conclusions in the project summary.

"Developing projections of demand for services and expected revenues based on current conditions and increased populations may produce estimates which compel the developer to reveal more details," the project states.

"This information need is urgent, not only for the citizenry but for the planning process which would be called upon to integrate the new community into the county and region.

"So unless such specifics are revealed, such that it becomes possible to accurately determine and weigh the various factors, mitigation measures, and tradeoffs, the proposal for a Las Positas new town development is very likely to be defeated at this time."

The project's preface and introduction describes the New Town proposal and the Las Positas Valley and gives a brief history of the county supervisor's General Plan Amendment approval and the Association of Bay Area Government (ABAG) stand against New Town.

Besides the summary chapter, the report is broken down into 12 main chapters: project description; plan compliance; natural factors; water quality; solid waste; energy consumption; noise; economic factors; air pollution and transportation; visual impacts; parks and recreation, and archaeological impacts.

Five of the chapters contain sections on "unanswered questions and data gaps."
